> About NAVO

NAVO Consulting stands for more than 15 years of organizational effectiveness consulting by empowering people in dynamic relations. We focus on organizational and leadership development services utilize a systemic, integrated approach. During our many years of experience we have found the most effective approach for enduring success is to work in partnership with our clients. Our clients are leaders with bold vision who know that investing in the quality of their leadership and culture turns vision into reality - and creates sustainable excellence.

Our work is guided by an integrated systemic approach. Our model for understanding organizations as systems focuses on the relationship among key elements or forces in the organization. As in any system, it is the co-influence of complex forces that creates the overall dynamic. That is why at NAVO Consulting we don't take a cookie-cutter approach to our client work: there's no one answer for all organizations. Instead, we work with you to create the unique conditions under which all forces work together so that your organization can gain and maintain a competitive advantage over time.

Using our own processes and assessment tools, we identify your organization's unique needs and help you learn how best to meet them.
